About ULACIT

The Latin American University of Science and Technology -ULACIT- is a private non-profit institution, with campuses in Costa Rica and Panama. It is dedicated to the cultivation of liberally educated professionals and embodies its founding principles in the diversity of the college community and its commitment to the common good, intellectual openness, and international character.

On the Costa Rican campus, nearly four thousand students are enrolled in the following undergraduate and graduate level programs:

Business Administration, Marketing, Finance, Organizational Behavior, International Business, Accounting, Law, Business Law, Tax Law, Information Systems Engineering, Information Systems Management, Software Engineering, Networks and Telecommunications Systems, Industrial Engineering, Dentistry, Orthodontics and Functional Orthopedics, Psychology, Occupational Health and Safety, Early Childhood Education, Teaching of English as a Second Language, Translation.

The Purpose of a Study-Abroad Program

ULACIT recommends the LOGOS Summer University for its ability to provide students with general knowledge of the larger world, some understanding of the array of individual cultures that constitute it, their interdependence, and the place of one's own culture among them. It allows for deeper understanding of a foreign culture, including the skills to negotiate the challenges of life there as a speaker of its native tongue. It fosters personal growth through reflection on assumptions, values, and moral choices. It is active and experiential, putting a premium on competence – on putting what one has learned into effective practice. It provides the best context in which to learn and appreciate the need for multidisciplinary – for looking at things comparatively, in context, and in their full complexity.

ULACIT encourages a full engagement with and immersion in the host culture. Very few Europeans get the chance to benefit from an international educational opportunity in Latin America. You can now offer your students the full advantage of a time abroad in Costa Rica through the LOGOS Summer University at ULACIT.
